

Recording a TeleMeetUp Call

Unlike many others in the market, the call recording is absolutely free at the moment, and the following are the steps to help you get started.

While in a Call, simply click on the red button that says Record Call, as showing the following image.

Clicking on it will enable the recording, while the red button will change its color to green, which represents the current state of it (recording started).

Enabling the recording will send a recording consent to all the participants of the call, with an option to leave the call for those who do not want to get recorded.

As soon as you stop the recording or the actual call, you will get the recorded copy of it
Alternatively, you can get the recorded copy of the call from the corresponding call details page.
